

RESIDENCE LEFT TO DOYLESTOWN FOR COMMUNITY

Mrs. Rebecca H. Swartzlander Also Will Endowment of $40,000

AND OTHER BEQUESTS

Hospital and Church Are Also To Benefit Under Terms of Will

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 10 — The community of Doylestown will benefit principally by the will of Mrs. Rebecca H. Swartzlander, widow of Dr. Joseph R. Swartzlander, prominent Doylestown physician who died 22 years ago.

Mrs. Swartzlander, who died last Friday following an accidental fall, left an estate of upwards of $150,000 in her will probated here by the Bucks County Register of Wills.

To the community of Doylestown, in memory of her father and mother, John and Grace V. Hart she bequeathed her Colonial residence, one of the show places of Doylestown at Main street and Oakland avenue—the land and all its buildings—for a community center for charitable and other useful organizations regardless of race, color or creed. She also created an endowment fund of $40,000 for the community building.

The will specifically mentions that the Red Cross, American Legion, Boy and Girl Scouts, the Village Improvement Association and other charitable or educational institutions may use the community building.

To the Doylestown Emergency Hospital is bequeathed $50,000 as an endowment fund to be known as the "Dr. Joseph R. Swartzlander Memorial Fund" in memory of her husband.

St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church of Doylestown is bequeathed $5,000. Depending on the amount of the residuary estate, the Bucks County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will receive $10,000 eventually.

Personal bequests include $10,000 to a sister-in-law, Susan B. Swartzlander, a Lower Merion High School teacher; $10,000 to be divided between Mary, Ellen and Frank Swartzlander, all of Doylestown; $3,000 to a house companion, Bessie A. Laudenslager; and $2,000 to a gardener, Bernard Riehl, Doylestown. Two cousins, Catherine Leav Chevrolet and Rebecca Ely Trego are also bequeathed money shares.

The Bucks County Historical Society is bequeathed a number of antiques.

The Doylestown Trust Company is named executor.

Sudden Death Occurs For Mrs. Charles R. Walp

Sudden death yesterday occurred for Mrs. Elsie T. Walp, wife of Charles R. Walp, of Fleetwing Estates. Mrs. Walp died at her home. She had resided in this vicinity for the past 26 years.

Survivors are four sons, Robert, William and Edward, of Bristol, and Charles, Jr., of Michigan; two daughters, Miss Elsie Walp, of Fleetwing Estates, and Mrs. George Ritter, of Hamburg.

The service will be held on Saturday at 1:30 at the Morden funeral chapel, 133 Otter street, with burial in Bristol Cemetery. Friends may call Friday evening.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS

The local group of Gold Star Mothers will conduct a meeting at eight o'clock this evening in Bracken Post home.

DEMOCRATIC CHANCES

The Democratic donkey is beginning to kick up its heels in frisky fashion. It has healed from its scars of last November, and once again is feeling its oats, rarin' to go in the Presidential race next year.

Signs of the preliminary groundwork for a do-or-die campaign to re-elect President Truman are visible on many fronts. There are a series of conferences of the political big-wigs, summoned to Washington for pep-talks with Cabinet members, Democratic National Committee officials and other powers-that-be. This state has had some of its Democratic leadership on hand for these conferences. Of course the Democratic candidates didn't do so well in Pennsylvania last fall; but then, 1948 is another year. Hope springs eternal.

This behind-the-scenes scene-shifting is largely in the hands of the new Boy Wonder of the Democratic party, Chicago's Gael Sullivan. This lad has been in charge of the party for only a short time, pinch-hitting for the recuperating Mr. Hannegan; but it has been long enough for him to get deep into hot water on at least two occasions—once when he tried to play spot-pulling politics with the Greek issue, and again when he tried to read Wallace, Senator Pepper and other ultra-New Dealers out of the Democratic Party.

There have been subtle shifts in the basic political situation which forms the backdrop for these activities.

President Truman has broken completely with the Roosevelt traditions he inherited, and now is on his own. Something new has been added—a new set of advisors not yet fully identified before the public. Policies are new, in keeping. The reversal of the long-standing Roosevelt program of appeasing Russia, to the extent that we are now on the verge of a military drive to "confine" and "isolate" Russian Communism, is only one such somersault.

The President's recent Anti-Red stand, both as applies to foreign policy and as concerns the numerous pro-Communists who have infiltrated into the public payrolls, has reshuffled the whole political makeup of the Democratic Party.

Under Roosevelt, this was a three-way alliance. First were the left-wingers, from parlor-pink and long-haired professor down the line to the Communists themselves. Second were the labor-bosses, most conspicuously (after John L. Lewis took a walk) those associated with the CIO. Third were the big-city political machines—the Tammany Hall crowd, the Hague boys, the Kelly-Nash outfit in Chicago (which produced Gael Sullivan), the Pendergasts of Missouri (whence came both President Truman and Democratic National Chairman Hannegan).

This alliance has been shot to pieces. The Greek policy laid down by President Truman gave the final old heave-ho to such New Deal wheelhorses as Pepper, Wallace and other sympathizers with the Russian philosophy. The President apparently has made a two-way decision; first, that he can run the next convention without their help, and second, that they won't dare try a Third Party.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

Roy Benner, some years ago president of Perkasie borough council, was appointed to serve as burgess of that borough at the meeting of the council on Monday. Mr. Benner succeeds Harleim M. Apple, who died several weeks ago. His term will expire in 1949.

The greater part of the evening was devoted to discussions relative to the proposed expansion of the municipal electric light plant, and it was decided to take up with representatives of an engineering firm in Philadelphia the possibilities of plant expansion and the probable earnings of the plant after the improvements have been made.

A special meeting of council will be held on Friday evening, when representatives of the Philadelphia firm will name terms and conditions for a survey of the local plant and the electric service situation here in general.

FINES IMPOSED FOR SCHOOL VIOLATIONS

Report Made to Benslem Directors; Health Information is Presented

FOUNTAINS REPLACED

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Apr. 10 —That two notices had been served for non-observance of school attendance laws, two hearings held and fines imposed for violations of compulsory attendance laws, was among the information given directors of Benslem Township schools last evening.

The board met in the high school building, here, with Robert Vansant presiding. Absentees were George Cragg and Joseph Siegle.

The health report revealed that 55 pupils had been given complete physical examinations during March; 48 school children and 13 pre-school children had been given diphtheria-tetanus toxoid inoculations. Ninety-six dental examinations were also listed. It was reported to the directors that the school dentist and school doctor will probably complete examinations of the odd numbered grades by the end of April.

Activities listed for this month at the school include: April 18th, Junior high school play "A Date with Judy" at eight p. m. in the high school auditorium; April 23rd, special budget meeting of the board of education.

Several drinking fountains have been replaced in the high school building the board was informed.

Dies Soon After Arrival At A Chestnut Hill Home

CROYDON, Apr. 10 —Mrs. Anna Benneman died on Tuesday shortly after being transferred from a Langhorne nursing home to Fairview Nursing Home, Chestnut Hill. Mrs. Benneman, who had recently celebrated her 91st birthday, had been ill a long time. She had made her home with her son, George, here, for three years, and for the past year was a patient in the Fairview home at Langhorne.

Friends and relatives are invited to call on Thursday evening at a funeral home at 2nd street and Susquehanna avenue, Philadelphia. Burial will take place on Friday morning with Requiem Mass at 10 o'clock in St. Boniface R. C. Church, Philadelphia.

In addition to her son George, the deceased is survived by a son, Charles, of Philadelphia; nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

CLASSES TO COMPETE

Bristol High School Alumni Association will conduct a meeting in the high school this evening at eight o'clock, with competition between classes to see which one will be represented by the largest group. Some sort of recognition will be shown the winning class. Dancing to recordings will be enjoyed, following the business meeting. The public is invited.

BUCKS COUNTY CELEBRITIES

By Grace Chandler

Well-known Bucks County newspaperwoman, writer, and editor of "The American Soprano"

A compilation of many interesting facts about those who are well-known on stage and screen, and in the literary and artistic fields of today, who are making their homes in Bucks County.

INTRODUCTION

People have been "discovering" Bucks County for more than three centuries.

The first white men on record to put foot within its present boundaries were three intrepid Dutch traders who in 1616 started from Fort Nassau (now Albany, N. Y.) to explore the wilderness. They reached the headwaters of the Delaware and travelled down its western bank until they reached the Schuylkill. These men were, quite literally, the forerunners of what the newspapers referred to more than 300 years later as "the Bucks County Invasion," when scores of artists, writers and stage and screen personalities with newsworthy names established homes here.

The earliest celebrities in Bucks County were an Indian Chief, a Quaker, a pirate, a general, and a "crazy" inventor.

Tammany, Chief of the Leni Lenapes, was the shining exception to a later and probably guilt-inspired white man's dictum that the only good Indian was a dead one. He was a veritable saint by all accounts and numerous St. Tammany societies, which succored the poor and downtrodden, were once flourishing tributes to his memory.

By the time William Penn arrived in 1682, quite a few hardy settlers, who felt cramped if there were neighbors within fifteen miles, were already nudging the Indians aside. Penn won their friendship and respect by his fairness in paying them for the land, and co-starred with Chief Tammany in the signing of the Great Treaty, memorialized in the popular painting by Benjamin West. He named Bucks after his ancestral county of Buckinghamshire, in England, and in establishing a government for his new land laid the foundations of modern democracy.

ANTIQUE SALE OPENS HERE TODAY

Collection of H. N. Davis, Esq., To Be Auctioned At Otter Street Residence

300 VIEW THE EXHIBIT

The two-day public sale of antiques, furniture, glassware and china by Horace N. Davis, Esq., got underway at 12 o'clock noon today at 325 Otter street, with a large crowd congregated.

Yesterday was designated as exhibition day and during the first two hours of the afternoon approximately 300 people visited the site to look over the two floors of goods, including hundreds of items which Mr. Davis has spent 25 years collecting.

Individuals came from all parts of Bucks County yesterday to look over the collection; also some from New Jersey, New York, and Philadelphia.

Among the outstanding pieces to be offered for sale are a mahogany banquet table, Windsor arm chair, pearl inlaid tray, pewter platter, Currier & Ives prints, and 50 pieces of lustre china attributed to Joseph Bonaparte. The lids of the vegetable dishes and sugar bowl feature tulip knobs.

Glassware, china, pictures and miscellaneous goods are scheduled to be sold this afternoon; and starting at 12 o'clock tomorrow the remaining glassware, china, and all the furniture and library books and book cases will go under the hammer.

Rare willow-ware plates with gilt edges were arranged for sale; and countless items of glass and china including rare pink lustre-ware, milk china, hobnail, majolica, pressed glass, etc.

A charcoal foot-warmer, charcoal iron, candle molds, woven coverlets, and other antiques are in the lot which are expected to bring good prices.

"We've enjoyed collecting the items, and we are now enjoying selling them," commented Mrs. Davis. The Davises plan at a future date to build a smaller home, and thus deemed it wise to sell a part of their collection.

PLAN FUND DRIVE

ANDALUSIA, Apr. 10 —A meeting of the Bowers-Hartman-Marszlik Post, No. 9198, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was conducted Tuesday evening in the Lennig Scout Cabin. Plans were formulated for a building fund drive, which will be announced at a later date. A special meeting will be held in the cabin on Tuesday evening, April 15th.

ILLUMINATE TANK

The water tank of Thomas L. Leedom Co. is now illuminated at night.

Trevose Woman is Found Dead at Her Residence

TREVOSE, Apr. 10 —An elderly Trevose woman was found dead in her home at Ridge and Reading avenues, last evening.

The deceased is Mrs. Amanda J. Hepperlen, whose death is attributed to cerebral hemorrhage.

Neighbors became alarmed when they did not see Mrs. Hepperlen about the place for approximately 24 hours, and entering the house found that she had died.

Bucks County Coroner J. Alfred Rigby, Cornwells Heights, was called in the case, also Pennsylvania State Police of Langhorne barracks. The body was removed to the Tomlinson funeral home at Cornwells Heights.

Cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George Breisch, of Philadelphia, are the only survivors. It is stated.

EDGELY P. T. A. WILL FILL IN PLAYGROUND

Summer Project Outlined; Members Addressed By Mrs. E. C. Stover

PLAN FOR ELECTION

EDGELY, Apr. 10 —The monthly meeting of East Bristol Township Parent-Teacher Association was held Tuesday evening in the school house with a complement of Edgely teachers in attendance.

Mrs. Emma C. Stover, executive secretary of Bucks County Tuberculosis and Health Society, elaborated on work being done by the society. She explained that the X-ray program now being carried on throughout the county is supported by the sale of Christmas seals. A film "This is T. B." was shown.

Members were advised that the school board has agreed to install new outlets in the school building to facilitate the use of the film projector in all rooms.

A motion was made to feature a summer project pending approval of the school board. This will be in the form of an attempt to correct condition of the school yard. An effort will be made to obtain a truck, and some sand or other fill to cover some of the low spots. Women members were urged to persuade their men folks to co-operate. Anyone desirous of aiding is asked to contact Martin Fallon.

The directors will also be approached as to whether it is their intention to have the buildings painted this year and if so, whether the interior can also be done. It was thought to have the classrooms painted in pastel colors.

An invitation was received from Bucks County Commissioners to attend a conference on "county-wide highway safety" in the courthouse, Doylestown, on April 16th. Robert Drake, Fleetwing Estates, was appointed chairman to select a committee to attend this conference.

An invitation was also received from Bucks County Congress of Parents and Teachers advising that their spring assembly will be held at the New Hope-Solebury high school, on April 26th. Reservations must be in by April 19th.

A committee was named to nominate candidates for officers for the coming year. This is inclusive of: Mrs. Thomas Kohler, chairman; Mrs. Warren Bruce, Mrs. Donovan Fagans, Mrs. Martin Lieberman, Mrs. George Wetherill and Mrs. Fred Hibbs.

Mrs. Howard Hilgendorff served refreshments assisted by Mrs. Andrew Firce, Mrs. Joseph Ward and Mrs. Elwood Richardson.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Distrust, Misunderstanding and Fear Mars Conference

Moscow—Distrust, misunderstanding and fear were seen today as undermining the work of the Moscow Conference, and seriously impairing relations between the Russians and the Anglo-Americans. The latter are understood to consider that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov deliberately is falsifying the meaning of past Big Three agreements, especially those concluded at Yalta and Potsdam. Observers point out that the Soviets claim the late President Roosevelt and former British Prime Minister Churchill agreed at Yalta that Russia should get 10 billion dollars in reparations from Germany. But the United States delegation insists Roosevelt merely agreed to this figure as a basis for discussion, and Churchill did not even agree to that.

Three Miners Reported Killed

Wilkes-Barre—Three miners were reported killed today and six others burned when a gas explosion racked a shaft of the Knox Coal Co. in nearby Exeter. Six additional men working in the vicinity of the Schooley shaft where the blast occurred were unaccounted for. The injured were taken to Pittston Hospital, while rescue squads searched for other possible victims. The Knox Coal Co. is an independent anthracite firm which leases its diggings from the Pennsylvania Coal Company and employs 175 men. Witnesses said the blast let loose shortly after the miners reported for duty at about 7 a. m.

102 Killed in Tornado

Amarillo, Tex.—At least 102 persons were known dead today in the wake of a tornado which ripped through the Texas Panhandle and northwestern Oklahoma. The hardest hit community was Woodward, Okla., where Red Cross disaster workers said 72 persons had been killed and "more than 400 injured." The Oklahoma Highway Patrol estimated the injured in Woodward at more than 500. The Red Cross said 20 persons were known dead and 150 injured at Higgins, Tex., with ten fatalities and 49 injuries at Glazier, Tex. At least 15 persons were injured at Whitehorse, Okla.

SELECT SCOUT TO ATTEND JAMBOREE IN PARIS IN AUGUST

Charles Holderried, Troop 69, Croydon, is The Lucky Boy

A HIGH SCHOOL PUPIL

Smiles Broadly; is Warmly Congratulated by The Committee

"Thank you, sir," said Charles Holderried, snapping to attention, when informed last night that he had been selected as the Boy Scout to go from the Bristol Borough-Bristol Township area to the Scout Jamboree in Paris next August.

Then the lad's face broke into a broad grin and he heaved a sigh of relaxation.

"Congratulations, Charles," said the members of the Chamber of Commerce Committee as they grabbed his hand and gave it a good hearty shake.

Holderried was advised of his selection at a meeting of the committee held in the office of the Artesian Coal Company. This was the first knowledge that the boy had received of his good fortune.

Holderried is 15 and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Holderried, Sycamore avenue, Croydon. He belongs to Troop 69, Croydon, of which Phillip C. Meyers is the scoutmaster.

He is a student in Bristol High School, tenth grade, taking the industrial course. He is a native of Croydon and has a brother who is also a scout.

Holderried is a clean-cut lad of 5'-8 1/2" and tips the scales at 130 pounds. His eyes are green with a merry twinkle and his hair is blond and slightly wavy. He has been a scout 2 1/2 years and is a Life Scout and Senior Patrol Leader.

Holderried will be sent to Paris and his expenses paid from a fund which is being raised by a committee of the Bristol Chamber of Commerce. He will represent the Bristol Borough-Bristol Township area. The selection was made by the Boy Scout Commissioners Staff for Lower Bucks County. Announcement of the selection was not made, even to the committee, until last evening.

Scout Holderried was brought into the meeting by District Commissioner John Burtonwood and introduced. The lad was then told by James Wilson, chairman of the committee that he had been selected for the honor.

In advising the boy of his selection, Wilson said:

"It gives me great pleasure, as chairman of the committee representing the Bristol Chamber of Commerce to have the privilege of telling you, Charles, that you have been selected by your Scout Committee as our representative from

David Robinson, Edgely, Dies; Funeral Saturday

EDGELY, Apr. 10 —At the age of 75 years, David Robinson died yesterday. Surviving Mr. Robinson are two sons, Robert, of Edgely; John, of Downingtown; a sister and two brothers, Miss Anna Mary Robinson, Owen Robinson, of Embreeville; and Edward Robinson, of Coatesville.

The service is arranged for two o'clock Saturday afternoon at a funeral home at 43 W. Lancaster avenue, Downingtown. Burial will be made at Unionville. Friends may call Friday evening.

SESSION ON FRIDAY

A meeting of American Legion Auxiliary is scheduled for Friday evening at 8:30 in Bracken Post home. Reservations for the birthday dinner to be held April 17th must be in by tomorrow evening. It is stated.

Egg-actly!

(By "The Stroller")

The president of Hulmeville Parent-Teacher Association and members of the faculty of Hulmeville-Middletown school have been on exceptionally friendly terms—that is up until yesterday.

The "palsy-walsy" feeling, to put it mildly, is somewhat strained—all because of an attempt on the part of one to spread Easter cheer.

It seems that the P. H. A. head yesterday added to the mid-day lunch of the principal and one of the members of the fair sex on the faculty by sending two beautifully-dyed eggs to the school.

Came time for the lunch and Easter food. The eggs were duly cracked—but in spite of their bright colors they had not been boiled.

DEFTING THE COURT

The Constitution of the United States sets up a government of checks and balances, assigning carefully delimited powers to three branches—executive, legislative and judicial. But what happens to the Constitution when one branch tries to usurp some of the powers of another?

Usually one or both of the other two branches step in to stop the encroachment. Thus when President Roosevelt felt in 1937 that the Supreme Court was assuming too much power, he attacked with his court-packing plan. This plan, itself an attempt at encroachment unparalleled in American history, was defeated by the other two branches. Congress defeated and severely denounced the presidential attempt.

Now a similar question of encroachment is raised by efforts of Congress to limit the right of the executive branch to select its personnel. One such case occurred in 1943, when Congress refused to appropriate money to pay salaries due to Goodwin B. Watson, Robert Morse Lovett and William E. Dodd, Jr. More recently it has taken similar action against Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren and approximately 100 other officers and employees.

This recent action was taken despite a Supreme Court ruling that the action of Congress with respect to Watson, Lovett and Dodd was illegal. Since then Congress has further flouted the Supreme Court by again refusing to appropriate money to pay judgments to reimburse the three men for back salary.

These acts constitute a defiance by Congress of both the judicial and administrative branches of federal government. They come as an easily understandable reaction to administrative abuses, but they are dangerous to the very foundations of constitutional government. It is true that there is less popular respect for decisions of the Supreme Court as at present constituted than at any time in history, but the Senate at least has no reason to scorn them. Every member of the Supreme Court was confirmed by the Senate before he climbed to his perch.

UP IN THE AIR

In this three-dimensional age, the helicopter may become the poor man's airplane. One model now being developed is simply strapped to a man's back, like an outboard motor. It will go straight up, or take him at 60 miles an hour to any spot that has a landing space 25 feet square.

If he wants to escape his mother-in-law or his creditors, he can simply go straight up and hover until his persecutor slinks away.

Quite an idea, this notion of putting an outboard motor on a man!

Another one-man model, slightly larger, has an enclosed scale landing wheels and a single guiding stick. It can probably be sold in quantity for $750.

A future campaign slogan may be: "Two helicopters on every roof!"

Labor has been on the outside, looking in, during recent months. What the President really thinks about the union movement was made perfectly clear when he locked horns with the Railroad Union. His crack-down on John L. Lewis is more of the same sort of evidence.

But the President is—or thinks he is—still in the saddle. His ace in this hole is his veto power. He can rise as the "champion" of the labor movement, when the time comes, and veto any law passed by Congress which the union leaders find annoying. That's a sort of hard-boiled courtship; but it's the way the President now is wooing the labor vote.

Where this leaves the real balance of power in the Democratic organization is a most interesting question. There was a time, not so long ago, when the rank and file of Democrat was complaining bitterly that outsiders like the late Sidney Hillman had more to do with running the Democratic party than the old-line Democrats themselves.

The left-wing boys are out, now; but the old-line Democrats still aren't "in." The two leading executives of the Democratic Party, as well as the President himself, are all men of a peculiar and specialized political background. Truman, Hannegan, Sullivan—all are products of gang politics. Moreover, they are products of Democratic machines which have had none too easy going in recent years.

Last fall witnessed the almost complete breakdown in Pennsylvania of a Democratic party machine which, only a short time earlier, had been big and powerful. Other similar machines elsewhere had similar troubles. Pendergast, with the White House and the Democratic National Committee helping (to say nothing of the PAC) couldn't elect even the President's own hand-picked choice for Congress.

The fact is that most of these Democratic machines have been in industrial northern states, which have swung sharply back to the Republican side. Most of them are now operating under the handicap of being under Republican Governors. At best, they represent the Northern and "radical" Democratic wing, to the exclusion of the Southern, Jeffersonian and old-line Democratic membership which is the real backbone of the Democratic Party.

Will these find "no place else to go", and drift back into the party service, figuring they would rather take another Administration they mistrust, so long as it is Democratic, than fight for something else? Obviously, that's the way the President figures.

Certain factors give at least an illusion of new-found strength. The President's recent better showing in straw-votes has been a big stimulus to Democratic morale. So has been the difficulty encountered by Republicans in Congress in getting their legislative program under way.

Much sentiment, however, is in a state of flux. It hasn't crystallized. The full implications of some recent Truman measures haven't been fully realized. Trouble is brewing for some of his program, especially that abroad. There is some feeling that the country is being pushed too far towards peacetime militarization. There is even stronger feeling that much of what the President wants to do in Greece ought to be done by the United Nations instead.

The Truman record to date is one of the strangest two-year records of any president. He has been higher in popularity, and lower, at various times than perhaps any other public figure. Unfortunately for him and his party, he was dragging bottom when election day rolled around. His present upsurge came three or four months too late (and about 18 months too soon) to pay off in votes.

Perhaps, from his point of view, it is just as well that the new leadership of the Democratic party has got busy with its early-bird start on campaigns still far off in the distance. He may wind up needing every bit of political strength thus built up.

And probably then some!

Select Scout to Attend Jamboree in Paris in Aug.

Bristol and Bristol Township area to go to the 1947 Boy Scout World Jamboree.

"This is a great honor being accorded you through Scouting, and we sincerely believe that in sending you on this 1947 World Jamboree that we have selected the highest type of American boyhood. Also, your having been chosen as our representative, we feel sure will have a great effect on your future life. It will likewise have its effect on Scouting in this area about which we are much concerned, as we earnestly feel that Scouting is the making of good American citizens; thus our interest and pleasure in sending you as our representative."

It is understood that you will correspond on an average of three times a week with the Bristol Courier, our local paper; and that you will make yourself available to any scout troop or organization to relate your experiences upon your return home."

Commissioner Burtonwood said that the judges started out with eight scouts as eligible for the honor. Then for various reasons three were dropped from the list, leaving five and then another was ruled out, leaving only four. It was from this group of four that the selection was made.

The requirements set up by the National Scouts Headquarters are that the boy named must be between fourteen and 17½ years old. One of the eligibles lost out because of being 20 days over the age limit. The Scout has to have one year of scouting, enough experience to pass cooking and merit badge tests. His school work and scout activities and advancement all played a part in the selection.

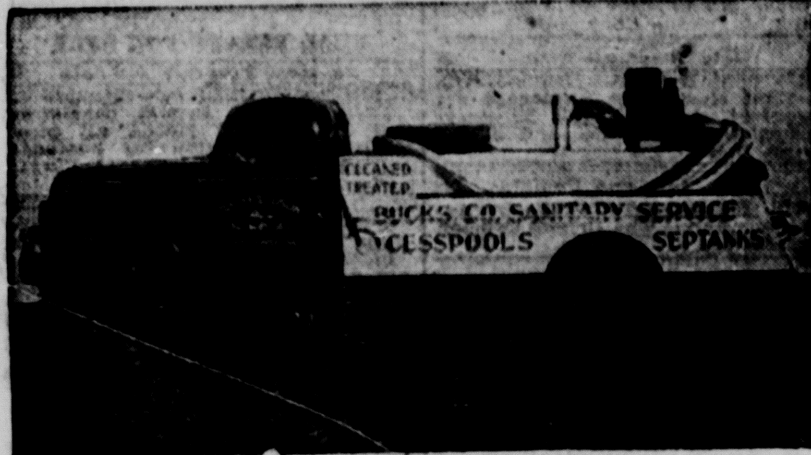

A careful check was made of Holderried's school record with one commissioner checking for his school attitude, deportment and his general conduct toward his teachers as well as others with whom he comes in contact.

Holderried will carry the name of Bristol across the ocean and will

DEFTING THE COURT

The Constitution of the United States sets up a government of checks and balances, assigning carefully delimited powers to three branches—executive, legis- lative and judicial. But what happens to the Constitution when one branch tries to usurp some of the powers of another?

Usually one or both of the other two branches step in to stop the encroachment. Thus when President Roosevelt felt in 1937 that the Supreme Court was as- suming too much power, he at- tacked with his court-pack- ing plan. This plan, itself an at- tempt at encroachment unparal- leled in American history, was defeated by the other two branch- es. Congress defeated and severe- ly denounced the presidential at- tempt.

Now a similar question of en- croachment is raised by efforts of Congress to limit the right of the executive branch to select its per- sonnel. One such case occurred in 1943, when Congress refused to appropriate money to pay sal- aries due to Goodwin B. Watson, Robert Morse Lovett and Wil- liam E. Dodd, Jr. More recently it has taken similar action against Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren and approximately 100 other officers and employees.

This recent action was taken despite a Supreme Court ruling that the action of Congress with respect to Watson, Lovett and Dodd was illegal. Since then Congress has further flouted the Supreme Court by again refusing to appropriate money to pay judgments to reimburse the three men for back salary.

These acts constitute a defiance by Congress of both the judicial and administrative branches of federal government. They come as an easily understandable re- action to administrative abuses, but they are dangerous to the very foundations of constitutional government. It is true that there is less popular respect for de- cisions of the Supreme Court as at present constituted than at any time in history, but the Senate at least has no reason to scorn them. Every member of the Supreme Court was confirmed by the Sen- ate before he climbed to his perch.

UP IN THE AIR

In this three-dimensional age, the helicopter may become the poor man's airplane. One model now being developed is simply strapped to a man's back, like an outboard motor. It will go straight up, or take him at 60 miles an hour to any spot that has a landing space 25 feet square.

If he wants to escape his mother-in-law or his creditors, he can simply go straight up and hover until his persecutor slinks away.

Quite an idea, this notion of putting an outboard motor on a man!

Another one-man model, slight- ly larger, has an enclosed seat, landing wheels and a single guid- ing stick. It can probably be sold in quantity for $750.

A future campaign slogan may be: "Two helicopters on every roof!"

Labor has been on the outside, looking in, during recent months. What the President really thinks about the union move- ment was made perfectly clear when he locked horns with the Railroad Union. His crack-down on John L. Lewis is more of the same sort of evidence.

But the President is—or thinks he is—still in the saddle. His ace in this hole is his veto power. He can rise as the "cham- pion" of the labor movement, when the time comes, and veto any law passed by Congress which the union leaders find annoy- ing. That's a sort of hard-boiled courtship; but it's the way the President now is wooing the labor vote.

Where this leaves the real balance of power in the Demo- cratic organization is a most interesting question. There was a time, not so long ago, when the rank and file of Democrat was complaining bitterly that outsiders like the late Sidney Hillman had more to do with running the Democratic party than the old- line Democrats themselves.

The left-wing boys are out, now; but the old-line Democrats still aren't "in." The two leading executives of the Democratic Party, as well as the President himself, are all men of a peculiar and specialized political background. Truman, Hannegan, Sul- livan—all are products of gang politics. Moreover, they are products of Democratic machines which have had none too easy going in recent years.

Last fall witnessed the almost complete breakdown in Penn- sylvania of a Democratic party machine which, only a short time earlier, had been big and powerful. Other similar machines else- where had similar troubles. Pendergast, with the White House and the Democratic National Committee helping (to say nothing of the PAC) couldn't elect even the President's own hand- picked choice for Congressman.

The fact is that most of these Democratic machines have been in industrial northern states, which have swung sharply back to the Republican side. Most of them are now operating under the handicap of being under Republican Governors. At best, they represent the Northern and "radical" Democratic wing, to the exclusion of the Southern, Jeffersonian and old-line Democratic membership which is the real backbone of the Dem- ocratic Party.

Will these find "no place else to go", and drift back into the party service, figuring they would rather take another Adminis- tration they mistrust, so long as it is Democratic, than fight for something else? Obviously, that's the way the President figures.

Certain factors give at least an illusion of new-found strength. The President's recent better showing in straw-votes has been a big stimulus to Democratic morale. So has been the difficulty encountered by Republicans in Congress in getting their legislative program under way.

Much sentiment, however, is in a state of flux. It hasn't crystallized. The full implications of some recent Truman meas- ures haven't been fully realized. Trouble is brewing for some of his program, especially that abroad. There is some feeling that the country is being pushed too far towards peacetime militariza- tion. There is even stronger feeling that much of what the President wants to do in Greece ought to be done by the United Nations instead.

The Truman record to date is one of the strangest two-year records of any president. He has been higher in popularity, and lower, at various times than perhaps any other public figure. Unfortunately for him and his party, he was dragging bottom when election day rolled around. His present upsurge came three or four months too late (and about 18 months too soon) to pay off in votes.

Perhaps, from his point of view, it is just as well that the new leadership of the Democratic party has got busy with its early- bird start on campaigns still far off in the distance. He may wind up needing every bit of political strength thus built up.

And probably then some!

Three Yardley youths whose reek- less gun-toting terrified gas station owners in the Trenton, N. J., area at the Christmas season were sent to New Jersey State Prison for armed robbery Monday. Judge Hut- chinson imposed sentences in Mer- cer Court, Trenton.

Eugene S. Dougherty, 26, and Joseph O. Nolan, 21, were given in passing sentence.

terms of three to five years each on five robbery charges. John H. Bergen, 21, was sentenced to two to four years on three charges.

The trio admitted holding up gas stations and a liquor store at gun-point and in one case slugging an attendant who did not readily comply with their orders.

"There is not very much in your past history that would give the court any reason to extend leni- ency," Judge Hutchinson commented.

COOK'S COUNCIL

By Jean Merritt

Hostess Hints

To better your beets combine 6 beets cooked and sliced, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup beet juice, 1 tablespoon bacon fat, 1 small onion sliced in rings, 4 teaspoons 57 sauce, 1 tablespoon distilled white vinegar. Cook 2 minutes; serve hot.

For a warmer to start a simple meal add 1 bouillon cube to 1 cup boiling water, seasons with 1 tablespoon chili sauce. Stir, serve hot.

For sandwiches with substance toast 1 side of bread slices; spread untoasted side with peanut butter blended with chopped bacon crisp and drippings; top each with tomato slice, broil briefly.

Capital custards: Combine 1 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ -oz. can condensed beef noodle soup, $\frac{1}{2}$ cups milk, scalded, 3 eggs, lightly beaten. Pour into custard cups; place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 40 minutes or until a silver knife, when inserted, comes out clean. Makes 3 stards.

Chowder: A good chowder is a good chiller. Drain oil from 1 7-oz. can tuna fish; flake. Grate 4 ounces American cheese; combine with 1 11-oz. can condensed cream of tomato soup, diluted with equal water, 1 teaspoon yellow mustard, pepper to taste. Heat, serve with salted crackers.

Creole quickie: Heighten the fire of condensed gumbo creole soup with chili powder and tomato ketchup. In boiling salted water cook 2 oz. (1 cup) dry egg noodles. Combine an 11-oz. can condensed gumbo creole soup, undiluted, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chili powder, 1 teaspoon ketchup; heat. Drain noodles and serve topped with gumbo creole sauce. Serves 2.

Sweet tooth tempter helps use up plentiful stock pile, makes appealing eating when you wash and scrub 4 medium-sized sweet potatoes. Cook in jackets in small amount of water 30 to 40 minutes or until tender. Remove jackets and slice. Place in flat baking dish. Heat together 2 tablespoons honey, 3 tablespoons orange juice, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt. Pour over potatoes; bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 20 minutes.

Salute to spring! Serve fruit salad topped with dressing made by combining equal portions salad dressing and mashed banana. Salt to taste.

Fashioned for Friday: Drain 1 16-oz. tin salmon; remove skins from fish and break into medium-sized pieces. Arrange in shallow baking pans or casseroles. Combine $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ cup thick sour cream, 1 teaspoon prepared yellow mustard, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt; pour over salmon. Bake in a slow oven (300° F.) or under broiler 30 minutes, until brown and bubbling. Serve on toast or noodles.

Kitchen hocus-focus: Sauté dry magic onions 1-2 minutes. Add water and salt. Cook away water. Presto! Fried onions!

Banquet is Arranged By Hulmeville Ladies' Aid

HULMEVILLE, Apr. 10.—Special guests at the annual April banquet of Neshaminy Methodist Ladies' Aid will be members of the choir and official board of the church, making an expected attendance close to 100. This is according to a decision reached Tuesday evening by the group at its monthly meeting held at the home of Mrs. Samuel K. Faust. Mrs. A. W. Buckman and Mrs. Kimbel Faust were co-hostesses, with 29 members present.

A novelty program and special favors are planned for the banquet, to be held April 23rd at 6:30 p. m. in Epworth hall of the church. Mrs. Viola Dunkley, ways and means committee head, declared.

A series of calendar parties will be instituted when 12 Aid members meet for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Christian Tomlinson Langhorne, who was named to take charge of the series by Mrs. Boyd Chang, president of the society. The parties will be in the form of luncheons, each of the 12 hostesses representing a month of the year.

A planned social hour program will follow each regular meeting of the group, with Mrs. Hugh B. Webster in charge. She announced that the May 13th meeting will feature a "Little Antique Show," this meeting to be held at her home, with Mrs. Roland Scribner as assistant hostess, and Mrs. E. D. Alter assisting in the social hour. Prizes will be awarded the members showing the oldest and most interesting antiques.

Mrs. Buckman was appointed to take charge of flowers and gifts for the society by Mrs. Omang; Mrs. Samuel K. Faust was named hymn leader; Mrs. George Hibbs, organist; Mrs. Scribner and Mrs. Samuel Everett will serve as the resolutions committee, and Mrs. Faust and Mrs. Hibbs, together with Mrs. Omang, compose the paragon committee. An executive committee luncheon will be held Tuesday, April 15th, at the home of Mrs. G. A. Japhen, Middletown Township. It was announced.

Mrs. George Bilger, Mrs. Mark Shapcott, and Mrs. Mildred Riley were welcomed as new members of the Aid.

Printing in all its branches is done quickly and at reasonable prices by the Bristol Printing Company. (Adv.)

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg cramps, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with aching and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stomachic, diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Walter F. Humphrey
Pastor
Neshaminy Methodist Church
Hulmeville

O Thou who art the creator and sustainer of the universe, we draw near to Thee and in love familiarly call Thee our loving Heavenly Father. We thank Thee for the revelations which Thou hast made through nature, Thy prophets, and history. With grateful hearts we thank Thee for the supreme revelation which Thou hast made in Thy Son, our Savior. We rejoice in the life He lived and the example He gave us. Help us to follow Him as our ideal. Amen.
